

THE RIGHT TO PRIVACY IN MODERN SOCIETIES- COMPARATIVE PERSPECTIVES

*Online-conference between the University of Denver and the Lomonosov
Moscow State University*

November 13, 2015 9:00 a.m. (MST) / 7:00 p.m. (MSK)
Ricketson Law Building, LAW 164

TOPIC:

The discussion will be focused on respective (US & Russian) constitutional as well as international law surrounding the right to privacy and how it is interpreted within each society. The program will be driven by four brief student presentations from the respective participant organizations on various sub-topics such as: privacy vs. security and public interests, privacy in the age of the internet, privacy vs. freedom of speech. There will be time for response, questioning and discussion after each student presentation.

ORGANIZERS:

- The Ved Nanda Center for International and Comparative Law (University of Denver and the Sturm College of Law (University of Denver);
- Center on Rights Development, Josef Korbel School of International Studies (University of Denver);
- Constitutional and Municipal Law Department of Law School (the Lomonosov Moscow State University).

EXPERTS:

- Professor Claude d'Estrée (Josef Korbel School of International Studies of the University of Denver);
- Professor Ved P. Nanda (Sturm College of Law of the University of Denver);
- Professor Tatyana K. Kovaleva (Law School of the Lomonosov Moscow State University)
- Professor Irina P. Kenenova (Law School of the Lomonosov Moscow State University)

PRESENTATIONS:

1. Alexander Kulnev (MSU) The Freedom of Speech and Privacy
2. Giedre Tasiunate (DU Sturm College of Law) Privacy in US Legal Framework
3. Anastasiya Shatilina (MSU) The Right to Be Forgotten in the Internet
4. Joan Hodge (DU Korbel School of International Studies) Privacy vs. Security

